Keeping Tabs

Editor, THE PRESS:

Your editorial of April 30, 1963, on "Question Recurs"

Have some real food-for-thought. As the President has his board to keep tabs on the CIA, I think it is more important that Congress keeps a look-out on the CIA also. Our founding fathers believed that each of the three branches of the federal government should have checks on the others. This is only logical as really the administrative branch shouldn't have to keep tabs on its own agencies, after all it was responsible for appointing them (or leaving them in office).
